Occupational safety and health specialists from companies as well as IOE member federations attended the first meeting of the GOSH in 2016, which was hosted by the Federation of Enterprises of Belgium (FEB) and Sibbelco at the company’s facilities in Genk. Substantive presentations were given on the following topics, stimulating interactive discussion among the delegates:

- Sibbelco Safety and Health “Going for Zero” programme
- The effect of Global Megatrends on Occupational Safety and Health
- OSH: The future of work
- How to engage with internal stakeholders to create a positive focus on OSH
- Travel risk management and return on prevention
- Critical Control Management: follow-up on the implementation
- Accidents reporting and management
- Leadership for growth

GOSH meetings are held under Chatham House rules to promote the free exchange of experience and expertise, and a brainstorming session was held in Genk for the delegates to identify priority challenges and concerns, and hence topics of mutual interest for discussion at future meetings.

SAP will be hosting the next GOSH meeting at its Sustainability Labs in the region of Lake Constance on 29-30 September 2016.
